Come on out, bring your mask and worship with your FV family from the socially distanced seating of the Family Center.

Wednesday Evenings

We will be spending the next few Wednesday evenings discussing how members of growing congregations work together and serve one another. We will be looking at what we will call the "allelon" passages of the New Testament.

"Allelon" is the Greek pronoun that is generally translated "one another" in the text and means basically, "I serve you as you serve me". Join us as we explore the different ways that we can serve one another and grow our congregation.

Here are a few examples of "allelon" passages:

- John 13:34 - "A new command I give you: Love one another. As I have loved you, so you must love one another."
- Romans 12:10 - "Be devoted to one another in brotherly love. Honor one another above yourselves."
- Ephesians 4:2 - "Be completely humble and gentle; be patient, bearing with one another in love."
- 1 John 4:7 - "Dear friends, let us love one another, for love comes from God."
